The return of IT assets

Regain the physical control

- Request the return of the IT assets
- Inventory of documentation from homes and carriers to the office
- Destroy unneeded documentation
- Assess risks of missing IT assets
- Update backups and parches

Fix past shortcomings

Complete disrupted work

- Update the data register (RoPA)
- Review contracts with emergency IT service providers
- Ensure integrity of consents
- Reassess the necessary and legal grounds without public health reasons

Normalize activities

Meet with HR, IT, compliance and ops

- Discuss changes and exceptions
- Identify policy waivers
- Align plans to return to normal
- Update remediations in data impact assessments
- Ask for no formalized controls
- Missed training

Adjust activities

Reevaluate your privacy plan

- Reevaluate the budget and targets
- Resume ongoing due diligence
- Ask for pending certificates
- Protection to non-vaccinated staff
- Plan inspections to be resumed
- Review changes in access rights

Reassess privacy risks

Identify new vulnerabilities and threats

- More ecommerce clients
- Spear-phishing after Facebook breach
- Downsized staff
- Work from anywhere
- More data sharing to consultants

Watchdogs are waking up.

GDPR enforcement and fines are also coming back to normal
